

Blended learning: Redesigning final projects into student-generated iBooks

Guest Lecture on Teaching with Technology

Angelina Craig-Flórez, Ph.D

COLUMBIA UNIVERSITY

Angelina Craig-Flórez is a Senior Lecturer and co-Director of the Spanish Language Program in the Department of Latin American and Iberian Cultures at Columbia University. She holds a PhD from Columbia University in Early Modern Literature and Cultural Studies.

Her research interests include: content-based foreign language instruction, second language acquisition in the post-method era, new approaches to the teaching of reading and writing in FL and new technologies in FL teaching. All of these elements had an important role in her Advanced Language course that culminated in the final project Student-generated iBooks: Spain in its Art.

Angelina is a co-director of Teach World Languages: a website for the exchange of ideas, materials and tools for the teaching of world languages.
