

The War in Ukraine: Resources

For factual, vetted information produced by nonpartisan organizations and individuals:

- Bellingcat - international open-source information and reporting organization, focus also on disinformation and images
- The Poynter Institute - ethics and leadership, non-partisan fact-checking and reporting news organization. Home to the well-respected PolitiFact. Here is a recent article on How to spot video and photo fakes as Russia invades Ukraine
- Jane Lytvynenko - award winning reporter in the field of disinformation and online investigations. Also, a Senior Research Fellow at Harvard's Shorenstein Center
- Anne Applebaum - a Pulitzer Prize winning historian and Senior Fellow at the Johns Hopkins School of Advanced International Studies. An expert on Russia and Ukraine
- Council on Foreign Relations - non-partisan think tank and membership organization. Great written pieces, podcasts, including "The President's In Box", which examines the nation's foreign policy challenges, and webinars, some of which are open to the public
- BBC Disinformation Beyond Fake News website

Cybersecurity related resources

- Cyber Security and Infrastructure Agency (CISA) - the US national cyber defense agency
- CISA Shields Up - guidance for all organizations and individuals on how to best protect against cyber attacks
- CISA free cybersecurity services and tools

Charitable organizations to support the people of Ukraine

- International Rescue Committee - well established, transparent organization. Led by David Milliband, former British Foreign Secretary.
- Razom for Ukraine - NYC based organization run by Ukrainians in the diaspora. In operation since 2014. They have a strong logistics network in place for getting the aid into Ukraine
- CARE - a well-established organization which is a global confederation of 16 organizations.

- Doctors Without Borders - well established international organization. They have already distributed medical supplies to Ukraine and have set up telemedicine in certain regions of Ukraine.
- Save the Children - well established, founded in 1919. The first global organization for children
- Vital Voices Global Partnership - well established, transparent organization which works with women globally

These resources were distributed to the Muhlenberg College community following the March 1, 2022, panel "The International Crisis in Ukraine: How and Why it Matters." For an archived video of the event, visit the Muhlenberg College website.